

AT MASONIC

Camp of the South to be the Scene Of Active Developments

J. M. Bryan and L. G. Campbell, came in from the Masonic Mining District last evening and are registered at the Briggs House.

Mr. Bryan, is one of the owners of the famous Pittsburg mine in that district and is of the opinion that the camp has the brightest future of any in the State. In speaking of general conditions he said last night:

"The camp at the present time is mostly in the hands of leasers many of whom are taking out shipping ore. We have two blocks leased on the Pittsburg, one to Whiffly and Eatwood who have shipped over $5,000 worth of ore to the Reno Reduction Works, and the other to Messrs Smith and Shaffield, who are also taking out considerable ore. The latter gentlemen are holding their ore as they will put up a mill on the ground in the spring and work their ore. These leases do not expire until next November and in that time the leasers will take out many bars of bullion if the conditions remain the same as they are at present, although the mines are continuing to improve with depth.

"Smith and Shaffield have a three foot ledge on their lease and it will all pay to mill.

"At the present time there is considerable snow in the camp and there is little being done, but with the opening of spring we expect to see a boom in the entire district as it has been proven to be highly mineralized and there are hundreds of miners merely waiting for the weather to break and then the prospecting will commence.

"I think in the Pittsburg, that we have as promising a claim as can be found any place in the State and am going to risk my time and money with the new district to the south."

Mr. Campbell, who has spent the past couple weeks in the district is highly pleased with the showings made and is of the opinion that the camp and district have an excellent future before them.

The latter gentleman is a practicing mining attorney of Cripple Creek and has been looking after the interests of his clients in this section of the State. He intends taking a look into the new discoveries at Manhattan before his return to Colorado.

The gentlemen will remain here a few days to take in the sights of the capital city.

Manhattan's Surroundings.

The altitude of Manhattan, the new mining camp in Nye county, is 7,800 feet above sea level. There are daily additions to the population of from fifty to one hundred. There is now about 2,000 population. Telephone service will soon be had with Tonopah. Wood is plentiful at $4 per cord. Water can be had at 100 foot depth. A road is being opened to Mina and one to Austin is being repaired and that route will soon prove a popular one for persons coming from eastern parts of Nevada. Town lots that sold for $50 and $100 three weeks ago are now held at from $1,000 to $3,000.

TONIGHT'S TREAT.

A Full House Will Greet Alberta Gallatin.

The following from the Reno Journal of yesterday morning tells of the presentation of "Cousin Kate" in that city:

Theatre goers, students of the real things in human life were afforded a treat at McKissick's opera house last night when "Cousin Kate," that near to nature comedy, was presented. From the time the curtain went up in the first act, showing the living room of the Widow Spencer's home in a quaint England village until it dropped in the third act, the large audience was interested. All were pleased and nearly all would go to the same performance tonight if it were presented here.

Heath Desmond, the artist is undoubtedly the best actor of the excellent company and proved a strong support to the star, Alberta Gallatin. Cecil Magnus, the clergyman was true to life. The same can be said of the school boy, Thomas Kelly. Marion MacDonald just the plain girl who finally gave up her love for Desmond to marry the clergyman, made good. May Wells acted well the part of the Widow Spencer and Eleanor Walburg, the servant was well received.

Herbert Henry Davies, the author tells a true story in a pleasant way in "Cousin Kate." The scene is laid in England. Heath Desmond, an artist ambitious to enter the Royal Academy is in love with Amy Spencer, a plain girl, easily influenced. The two disagree as to the opinions of Rev. Bartlett, the clergyman and he leaves for London on a visit. Returning he meets "Cousin Kate" on the train. She is a friend of the Spencer family on her way to visit them.

Desmond and Kate prove genial companions and friendship soon ripens into love. Amy and Rev. Bartlett also form a strong friendship and finally, as all good plays should end Desmond and Cousin Kate are married and Miss Spencer and the minister become man and wife.

The story is so prettily told and has so much fun running through every line that it cannot help but interest and amuse those who witness it.

SPLENDID SHOWING.

Nye and Ormsby County Bank at Annual Meeting Pleases Shareholders.

On the 20th ulto the stockholders and directors of the Nye & Ormsby County bank held their annual meeting. A most satisfactory condition of affairs presented itself when the reports of the various branch banks of this strong and popular institution were presented.

The earnings of the year were sufficient to allow the directors to carry over $100,000 into the surplus fund and $9,704.55 into the undivided profit fund and to declare a dividend of 12 per cent. This is considered one of the most remarkable showings ever made by a banking institution within the state in a similar length of time.

The various branches of the Nye & Ormsby County Bank in Carson City, Tonopah, Goldfield and Manhattan are in a most flourishing and prosperous condition and show over a million dollars on deposit.

The following directorate was elected for the ensuing year.

Frank Golden, James G. Sweeney, Malcolm L. McDonald, Alonzo Tripp, J. W. Kendall, A. D. Nash, D. M. Ryan, Neil McClean, M. Sheeline, Uri B. Curtis and L. L. Patrick. The following officers were elected:

Frank Golden, president; D. M. Ryan, vice-president; A. G. Raycraft, cashier; Geo. W. Cowing, assistant cashier of the Carson branch; R. E. Kuhns, assistant cashier of the Tonopah branch; J. P. Marshall, assistant cashier of the Goldfield branch; F. J. Hill, assistant cashier of the Manhattan branch.

The bank is now constructing a new building at Manhattan with fire and burglar proof vaults, into which it will move from its temporary quarters as soon as completed.

Expected Today.

D. O. Mills, president of the Virginia and Truckee railroad and millionaire banker of New York, is expected to pass through Reno tomorrow on his way to Carson to consult with Manager H. M. Yerington and also visit with his nephew, George Mills.

Considerable speculation is rife as to the nature of Mr. Mills' visit. In certain circles it is believed that it has to do with the still further extension of the Virginia and Truckee railroad. One of the possibilities is the building of a competing line into Tonopah and Goldfield and the erection of smelters in Reno and Carson.
